JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

FIRST CALENDAR DAY
FIRST SESSION DAY

Senate Chamber
Des Moines, Iowa, Monday, January 12, 2015

Pursuant to chapter two (2), sections two point one (2.1) and two point three (2.3), Code of Iowa, the 2015 Regular Session of the Eighty-sixth General Assembly convened at 10:01 a.m., and the Senate was called to order by President Jochum.

Prayer was offered by Sister Marge Clark, formerly of Clarke University and a member of the Order of the Blessed Virgin Mary. She was the guest of Senator Jochum.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Senator Courtney.

OPENING REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

President Jochum addressed the Senate with the following remarks:

Good morning.

Welcome to the 2015 session of the 86th General Assembly of the Iowa Legislature. I especially want to welcome the 7 new members of the Senate: Senators Chaz Allen, Mark Costello, Kevin Kinney, Tim Kraayenbrink, Jason Schultz, Tom Shipley and Senator Tony Bisignano, who is returning to the Senate.

Thank you for the commitment to public service that led your family, friends and neighbors to send you to serve them and represent all the people of our great state in the Iowa Senate.

My final thank you is for the honor of serving as President of the Senate.

I pledge to work with every member of the Senate with an open door policy. As State Senators, we have a responsibility to lead honorably with our words and our actions; as leaders we have a duty to set an example on how to solve problems in spite of our differences.

With the Golden Rule as our guide—to treat others as we want to be treated—we will succeed. As Henry Ford once said, “Coming together is a beginning, staying together is progress, and working together is success.”

Since Iowa voters created divided government, only ideas that have or can gain bipartisan support will become law.

The question is: How do we move forward despite our real differences?

Let’s begin by aiming higher than the partisan debates that divide us.

Let’s begin by listening and talking TO each other rather than OVER each other.

Let’s begin by setting our sights on goals that are supported by all Iowans and will make a real difference in Iowa’s future.

After all, that is how we reached agreement on the Earned Income Tax Credit, commercial property tax reform, skilled worker programs, and the Iowa Health And Wellness Plan, to mention just a few initiatives from the recent past.

Here’s our challenge: We need to craft a balanced budget that is fair to all Iowans. The budget is our plan for the future. The budget is proof of our commitment to the people and policies we claim to believe in.

And, the budget must help us build an economy that works for everyone.

That means jobs that support families. According to the recent Batelle Report, Iowa’s workers outperform the national average on productivity, but their wages are twenty-three percent below the national average.

Subsequently, too many IOWANS are being left behind, and those who are impacted the most are our children.

For too long, the well-being of children has been considered a “woman’s issue.” It is not just a “woman’s issue”. It is an American issue. It is an Iowan issue.

Today, forty-one percent of Iowa’s children under the age of 6 live in low income households. Children who grow up in poverty are more likely to have persistent health issues, are less successful in school, and have lower incomes throughout their lives.

If that’s the likely future for 41% of future Iowans, that spells trouble for our economy and for all Iowans.

However, if those same kids have good health care and extra help in school, almost all of the predicted disadvantages go away.

Iowans have always risen to the challenges we face. For example, the Healthy and Well Kids of Iowa (HAWK-I) health insurance program was begun and then repeatedly funded by bipartisan legislative majorities. It was implemented by Republican and Democratic Governors: Branstad, Vilsack, and Culver. As a result of those efforts, Iowa children have fewer health problems, incur lower health care costs, and are doing better in school.

Those benefits will last throughout their lives. That’s the sort of outcome that brings people together.

Here are three ways we can come together to help Iowa’s children.

First, continue opening doors to education.

Let’s freeze in-state undergraduate tuition for a third year. This will encourage more Iowa students to get their college degree and help reduce college debt.

Let’s restore bipartisan consensus to support our local PreK-12 students. The legislators who filled this chamber in years past, Democrats and Republicans, would be appalled to learn that Iowa has fallen to 37th in the nation in per pupil funding.

Those former Iowa senators knew long ago that great local schools are the best, most certain path to economic prosperity and to prepare our youth to be responsible citizens, and life-long learners.

While we can't predict which industries will produce the best jobs of the future, it is obvious that those industries will need innovative, educated workers who can solve problems and adapt to changing conditions.

That's why the Iowa Legislature voted 40 years ago to put students first when writing the state budget. That's why state law REQUIRES us to set school funding 18 months in advance.

In recent years, that law has been ignored and that hurts our kids. That's why our state now invests $1700 LESS per student than the national average.

It is easy to fix this problem. All we have to do is follow the law.

Let's open the school door wider for our youngest children and focus our investment where and when it counts most, from birth to five years old. It is in those first five years when the foundation for learning is laid.

The best research suggests that early childhood education provides more than eight and a half dollars for every dollar invested. It helps narrow the achievement gap and results in lifelong benefits, like a boost in earnings later in life. That was the conclusion of Governor Branstad's 2011 education summit. It is time that early childhood education be available to every four year old.

And finally, quality, affordable childcare is still lagging in most of our communities as is the successful First Five initiative that helps detect and help prevent mental health and developmental problems among young children.

These are not partisan issues. These are the kids growing up in our communities right now. The young boys and girls who will become Iowa's future workers, parents, and civic leaders.

If we believe in the words of Iowa's native son, President Hoover, when he said, "children are our most precious resource;" if we believe that there are extraordinary possibilities in ordinary people, then what are we waiting for? Let's unleash the extraordinary possibilities in our most precious resource--our children.

Thank you.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Senator Dix addressed the Senate with the following remarks:

Madam President,

I am proud and honored to stand here today to speak with my fellow legislators and to Iowans.

A few weeks ago many of us began making plans for 2015. Speaking with friends, they began sharing their New Year's resolutions. Some spoke of cutting back on sweets, exercising more, spending more time with family, and saving up for a family trip. There was not a bad idea mentioned, and I thought about how to apply those ideas to myself and my family.

I have to admit, it probably would not hurt to exercise more, and I enjoy the time I spend with Gerri and the kids—and I know I should set aside more time to do exactly that. As I thought more about it, my family and friends are much like yours in this chamber. They are working hard to meet their financial obligations, provide a good home for their children, while trying to save for a family trip or rainy day.

Shortly after Christmas, having my morning coffee I kept thinking about these New Year's resolutions. I shared with Gerri my plans to get into better shape, spend time with her and the kids and come to the Capitol and fight for families like mine, yours and our neighbors and friends across the state to create a legacy of opportunity for every Iowan.

Speaking with my fellow Senate Republicans, we resolve again this year to be fiscally responsible with the taxpayers' money, ensure every child has access to a world class education, honor the commitments we have passed in this chamber, and lift up those with middle incomes. But even as I say that, I realize that some resolutions are simply more important than others. The treadmill may begin collecting dust in February, and the Kit Kat could return to the morning routine in March. But Senate Republicans are resolved—no, committed—to fight for what is right to move our great state forward. We have seen those successes in the past such as eliminating the state income tax on military pensions and social security and education reform.

Iowa's unemployment is near pre-recession levels. A billion dollar deficit is memory. Teacher pay has increased. Commercial property tax relief is now a reality. None of this occurred with a snap of a finger and hoping for the best. With foresight and collaboration, we made this happen.

It is vital we maintain this foresight and ability to work together to rein in spending and keep our state on a strong financial footing. Sitting around the table, Iowa families prioritize their spending to ensure they are not adding to their credit card debt. We face a challenging budget year, and Iowans expect their legislators also to prioritize—particularly when it comes to spending their money and passing debt onto their children and grandchildren.

As a legislative body, we face some tough decisions when it comes to prioritizing spending and making necessary cuts. I believe this body has the resolve to work together to rein in spending, make cuts and reduce the size of government and lift up all Iowans in the process by reducing their tax burdens.

We must be aggressive in our focus on growing our economy. A competitive tax structure is advantageous in expanding our skilled workforce and creating new career opportunities. Senate Republicans know we must reduce the regulatory and tax burdens on job creators. Significant tax relief emboldens businesses, which leads to job creation, bolsters Iowa's economy and leads to increases in state revenues.

With the reform packages passed in 2013, we must be mindful in our work when it comes to budgeting. It is important we maintain fiscally responsible budgeting practices while ensuring commitments we made to Iowans regarding education and property tax reform are met. Shirking this responsibility in favor of simply raising taxes would be a betrayal of the trust of the voters who elected us. Spending money we do not have would be worse: a betrayal of the next generation as we hand them the tab for our irresponsibility.

Senate Republicans pledge our resolve to work to create a legacy of opportunity for all Iowans. We are willing to work with Senate Democrats to make this vision a reality. After all, that is the government Iowans expect, the representation they deserve and the leadership they elected us to provide.

Let's make it Happen!

REMARKS BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Senator Gronstal addressed the Senate with the following remarks:

I want to welcome the legislators, staff, the news media and our guests to the Senate today. We should all be honored for the opportunity we have to be part of leading the great state of Iowa.

The focus of the 2015 session must be Iowa's middle class.

While some Iowans have benefitted during the recovery from the Great Recession, Iowa's middle class has been largely left out.

Stagnating wages.

Higher student debt.

Slow job growth.

Thousands of workers who need 21st Century skills.

So many Iowa families are struggling financially that it hurts Iowa's economy.

There are fewer dollars in circulation in our communities. And the businesses in our small towns have fewer customers.

What Iowa needs is a larger middle class. More Iowans with access to good jobs, great schools, affordable child care, health care, and housing; and the ability to retire with dignity.

Given that, the most important question facing Iowa legislators is how will we help Iowa's middle class?

Here's a good start.

Local school funding that will continue improvements in student achievement and teacher quality

Freezing tuition for in-state students at our state universities for a third year in a row.

Making sure Iowa workers are paid what they are owed.

Boosting opportunities for worker training programs at community colleges.

Giving Iowa companies the first crack at state contracts.

Continuing to balance the state budget.

My hope for the 2015 session of the Iowa Legislature is that members of the Iowa House and Senate—Republicans and Democrats—will focus on what's best for Iowa's middle class...and for Iowans struggling to join the middle class.

I want to thank Governor Branstad for his commitment to start following the law on school funding. Last week, the governor told reporters that in his speech tomorrow he WILL, in contrast to previous years, offer proposals to fund Iowa's local schools for this year and the next.

That is a welcome change of course.

Governor Branstad and House Republicans have repeatedly REFUSED to follow Iowa's law REQUIRING school funding to be decided FIRST, before the rest of the budget.

As a result, we are currently almost a year late in setting the 2015–2016 school year budget.

And Iowa has fallen to 37th in the nation in per pupil spending!

Thank goodness Iowa student achievement still ranks far higher than that.

We can thank Iowa students, parents and educators for that.

In the long run, you get what you pay for...and we aren't paying for world class schools.

So, it was great to hear that Governor Branstad is adopting a new approach to education.

His next words, however, were a disappointment.

Governor Branstad predicted Democrats would be disappointed.

Wrong, wrong, wrong.

That comment shows exactly why school funding has become a mess here in Iowa.

Let me spell it out. Education funding is not, and should never be, primarily about partisan politics. NEVER.

That hasn't been Iowa's history, and if education DOES become a partisan issue in Iowa, it will spell disaster for our state's future.

Governor, the people you should be MOST concerned about disappointing are Iowa's parents, teachers, school administrators, school boards and community leaders.

Governor, you need to focus on the Iowa families for whom the doors to the local school are the doorways to a better life for their children.

Governor, don't disappoint Iowa communities who depend on great local schools to help attract new businesses and new residents.

Governor, don't disappoint everyone in this state who wants Iowa to fully recover from the Great Recession so we become the prosperous state we once were.

I've often said that successful legislative work is about finding common ground.

If we don't find common ground between the Senate, the House and the Governor, Iowa won't move forward.

Finding common ground often isn't easy. By definition, you don't get things your own way

Here's what keeps me going. Here's what prevents me from giving up when it appears common ground is impossible to find.

Our state is at a critical point in history. Iowans are struggling financially, they are worried about the future, and they are depending on us.

Let's all agree the election is over, and it is too early to start the next campaign.

It's time to focus on the things we CAN agree on.

If we put the needs of Iowa's citizens ahead of narrow, partisan politics, we WILL find that common ground and this session will make a positive contribution to the state we all love.

Thank you.
